

René Lajvort

fullstack web developer

About me

Throughout the years I've taken part in all the different areas of web development, but I didn't feel ready to go above hobby level. At the start of 2020 I've decided that I want to make a living from this, since it's my favorite productive occupation. I've started working on projects that made me learn a lot, so that I could finally meet my own expectations.

By now I feel ready to take on complex projects that require great knowledge. I'm looking for Junior Fullstack or Medior Frontend work.
